

APOLOGISTS AND ATHENS EARLY CHRISTIANITY MEETS ANCIENT GREEK THINKING

Edited by Gunnar af Hällström

Contents

Abbreviations		i
Preface		iii
Karin Blomqvist	Reading, Learning and Discussing. Being a Student at Athens in the Early Roman Empire	1
Sven-Olav Back	On the Areopagus Speech and its Reception in Second-Century Apologetics	15
Jerker Blomqvist	Apologetics and Rhetoric in the Ad Diognetum	31
Dimitrios Karadimas	Justin's Dialogue with Trypho Revisited: Philosophy, Rhetoric and the Defence of the Christian Faith	49
Anni Maria Laato	The Trophy and the Unicorn – Two Images of the Cross of Christ in Justin Martyr's Texts, with Special Regard to Reception History	69
Nicu Dumitraşcu	Reconsidering Anthropology: A Note on Soul and Body in the Thinking of Justin Martyr	81
Anders-Christian Jacobsen	What has Athenagoras to do with Athens? A Geography of Athenagoras' Life and Thought	93
Pablo Argárate	The Doctrine of God in Athenagoras' Legatio	103
Serafim Seppälä	Aristides and Athenagoras of Athens on Angels: From Christian-Jewish Polemics towards Universalism	127
Gunnar af Hällström	Providence (Pronoia) in the Early Apologists and Creeds	143
Aspasia Kaloudi	The Characteristics of Greek Religion According to Origen's Contra Celsum	155
List of Contributors		167